WECA also wants the gateways to welcome travelers to the 'West End', not to 'Rockville.' Staff will evaluate how physical structures could be accommodated at the gateway locations identified by WECA given site distance, state regulations, available right-of-way, conflict with other signs, directional clarity for drivers, the City's sign ordinance, and pedestrian and traffic safety. 1. Attended the Maryland Crime Prevention Association Conference in Ocean City Maryland. Seminars I attended were: Panel Discussion on Homeland Security efforts in Maryland, Patriot Act Updates, Organized Retail, Citizen Education to Anti-Terrorism, Target Hardening, and Youth Crime Prevention Initiatives. The seminars were informational but unfortunately none of the presenter provided handouts. The Citizen Education to Anti-Terrorism brief was a draft, but had very good information that could be added into our Emergency Preparedness Program. I will follow-up on obtaining a copy of this brief once it is finalized. I have been able to obtain a copy of the Patriot Act update brief on power point, which I will forward

Dear Chief Treschuk:

I am writing to express my sincere thanks and appreciation for the services that were provided to the 2nd District by Sergeant Timothy Marsh.

During the week of September 12th, 2005, the 2nd District received notice that the annual World Bank/IMF meetings were to take place during the weekend of September 23-25, 2005. In addition to protesting the World Bank, officials learned that protesters had obtained the home address of World Bank President Paul Wolfowitz, located in the 2nd District.

Concerned with the large number of protesters that were anticipated in the area, a request was made to deploy SERT. The fully equipped team was staged a short distance away and waited, obtaining regular intelligence briefings from SID officers who were monitoring activities in Washington, D.C. Fortunately, the protest that was anticipated by World Bank officials and intelligence officers never materialized. The SERT was deactivated at 2000 hours, without encountering any protestors.

I would like to extend my thanks and appreciation to Sergeant Marsh who was a member of this detail. While nothing materialized, I still observed a unit that was motivated, well-trained, and ready to act if necessary.

Sincerely,

Handwritten signature of Wayne M. Jerman

Bob,

I wanted to compliment Officers Ragan, Berry and Detective Halverson for there efforts in assisting us with an aggravated assault which occurred on November 8, 2005 at 13207 Twinbrook Pkwy.(R05-061022) I t is my understanding that Ofc. Ragan was the first on the scene and administered first aid to the victim who had a serious laceration to his chest. Officer Berry arrived soon after, took control of the initial scene and separated witnesses. Both officers remained on the scene, wrote up statements and assisted further at the Rockville station. Detective Halverson responded to the station and assisted Detective Bowers with the interviews and evidence collection. It should be noted that due to Ofc. Ragan's good memory, she was able to quickly identify the main witness as a subject she had previously issued an alcohol citation. She produced his picture from her cruiser which had his full name and information on it. She was also able to confirm he had an active warrant for his arrest.

This event is an example of how officers from both agencies work together in order to achieve the same goal of proactive law enforcement within the same jurisdiction. The fact that this event occurred outside the city limits of Rockville did not prevent these officers from responding, assisting and being productive throughout the investigation. I commend them for there actions and more importantly thank them for there help.

Dear Sir:

We would like to express sincere thanks to a Rockville City Police officer who came to our assistance last night. Getting off of L-270 onto R. 28 in Rockville, we encountered a place on the street where suddenly the curb lane narrowed. We hit the curb and flattened a tire. By the time we went several blocks with no gas station in sight, we knew we had to pull over.

An officer in his car (^M~~C~~ 1165) whose name we learned is Mr. Berry, came to our aid. He changed the tire in the bitter cold air of last evening, and we then got safely home. We were very appreciative of his assistance and commend you on having officers who are so very helpful and kind.

Sincerely,

Mary M. & Colvin Gibson

ing across the U.S. instead of confining themselves to a single community as in the past. Every police department and most other agencies have someone who is involved in gang prevention or control.

What are some of the indications there could be a gang presence in my community?

- Presence of graffiti
- Crossed out graffiti. This is an indication that there are rival gangs in your neighborhood
- Youth in the area wearing colors, jewelry and clothing, flashing hand signals
- Availability of drugs
- Significant increases in the number of physical confrontations or stare downs
- An increasing presence of weapons
- Drive by shootings within or nearby
- A history of gangs had been in your community
- An increasing presence of "Social Groups" using names like Born to Kill, etc.

Is all graffiti gang related?

Graffiti has been around since the cavemen. It was and is a means of communication — a way of telling a story. That is how the gangs use it. They mark their territory by scrawling their gang's name on walls or anything that is blank, issue challenges by crossing out other names and writing their own, call for meetings or even put out death warrants. These markings range from simple to elaborate.

Isn't this a police problem?

When a crime is committed it becomes a police matter. We think of gangs as a disease. The police are the medication to this disease, a band-aid if you will. However, we need a vaccination — a means to stop the spread of this disease — before it spreads and takes more children's lives. We must develop a method where every facet of the community, law enforcement, the clergy, elected officials, teachers, social workers and everyone else who comes in contact with children are working together with one goal: The safety and well being of our youth.

How can I combat gangs in my community?

- Know What Your Child Is Doing!
- Insist on meeting their friends and their friends' parents

- Know where your child is going, with whom, how he or she is traveling, and when to expect him or her home.
- Set rules and enforce them. The same teens who resist their parents' wishes will conform to a gang's wishes because a gang will tolerate nothing less
- Ask school personnel to make you aware of any gang-type behavior
- Encourage legitimate out of school interests to make youth feel he or she is part of a group
- Get your child involved in community projects (they need to feel a part of the community)
- Report gang activity — Contact school or police officials about dangerous and/or illegal things. These may include:
 - ✓ Graffiti
 - ✓ Houses with many people going in and out at all hours of the day and night
 - ✓ Groups of youth using alcohol and drugs
 - ✓ Drug dealing
 - ✓ Groups of teenagers hanging around school grounds
 - ✓ Groups of youth carrying weapons

How can I get involved?

- Remove graffiti immediately from your property. Encourage neighbors to do the same. Most communities will help you remove it if you don't know how
- Join or form a community group that reports suspected gang activity, i.e.: Neighborhood Watch programs
- Work with neighbors to provide safe park areas and to keep them clean and crime free
- Attend gang awareness workshops. Invite your neighbors
- Support and help establish programs that provide kids with positive activities, such as scouts, sports, recreation and art programs
- Encourage politicians to support legislation that would make it a crime to recruit children into a gang.
- Spend time with your children discussing the issues. Ask for their input and feelings. Stand by them and let them know they are not alone.

Facts About Gangs — Know the Signs in your Child

What is a gang?

A gang is a group or association of three or more persons who may have a common identifying sign, symbol or name. Individually or collectively, the members engage in, or have engaged in, criminal activity that creates an atmosphere of fear and intimidation. Criminal activity includes juvenile acts that if committed by an adult would be a crime.

What is gang banging?

Gang banging is when members go out for the express purpose of creating mischief, anything from graffiti to other more serious criminal acts such as attacking other gangs with weapons.

What are the ages of gang members?

The typical age range is 14-26. However, gang members have been seen as young as 8 and as old as 40 or 50. The older members may have gained status as OG'S (original gangsters).

Are there any female gang members?

Traditionally females played a submissive role in most gangs. They held the weapons or stash for the gang, provided someone to hang out with and were a source of information for the gang. However, within the last 10 to 15 years, females have begun gang banging. There are gangs that have female leaders and some that are strictly female.

What are some risk factors that may relate to gang involvement?

1. Living in an area with a high level of gang activity
2. Lack of a positive support system at home
3. Violence against family members
4. Denial by the family that the child is under a gang's influence
5. Exposure to TV shows, movies and/or music that glorify violence
6. Lack of alternative activities, such as community youth programs
7. Low self-esteem and or sense of hopelessness about the future
8. Difficulty making decisions and communicating with others

9. Too much unsupervised free time
10. Lack of respect for authority (parents, teachers, law enforcement officers)
11. Experience using alcohol or other drugs
12. Growing up in a single-parent family or with other family members who belong (or belonged) to gangs
13. Moving from one place (home) to another several times in a short period of time

Why do people join gangs?

Each case is unique. The usual reasons include: Fun, excitement, a sense of belonging, need for attention or status, companionship, intimidation, peer pressure, financial gain, protection and a failure to understand what being in a gang really means. Kids who join usually have low self-esteem, too much unsupervised time, come from a poor background or have a violent or non-existent home life. Some are born into the gang life.

How does someone become involved with a gang?

Most gangs court their new recruits. They let a potential recruit hang out with them, learn their language, hand signs, style of dress, etc. The recruit sees the money, power and lifestyle of the gang and is usually impressed. He or she becomes accustomed to the life and one day is told it's time you show your loyalty to the gang. This could mean committing a crime.

How do gangs recruit children?

Street gangs use a variety of techniques to recruit children into the gang. Some of these techniques relate to the risk factors mentioned above. The list below is a short list of reasons children join gangs:

- Identity, Attention and Status. Gangs may offer kids a powerful group identity and kind of recognition they cannot get at home or elsewhere. They develop a newfound sense of self worth and status.
- Protection. If there are many gangs in an area, joining one may offer protection from rival gangs.
- Feeling of Belonging. Gang activity may offer a feeling of being part of a "family" that is missing in the child's home. The child becomes loyal to the gang's values, rather than those of the home. He finally has a place where he's accepted.
- Intimidation. Threats and violent beatings may be used to force youths to join.
- Excitement. Gang activity may seem attractive to kids who are bored, lack interests and directions, or do not feel good about themselves. Gangs have been glamorized in music, movies and video games. This adds to the excitement associated with them.

- Peer Pressure. Kids are pressured to join gangs if others around them are gang members.
- Financial Benefit. Kids see being in a gang as an easy way to gain money and new possessions.
- Lack of Knowledge. Kids, especially young ones, do not realize the true dangers of being in a gang.

How can I tell if someone is involved in a gang?

- Marked change in behavior
- Confrontational and verbally abusive, shows disrespect for authority figures
- Change in attendance and attitude about school, church, or other previously considered normal activities
- Graffiti symbols on or around your residence
- Tattoos and brandings: stars, pitchforks or unexplained symbols or letters
- Baseball caps worn to the right or left, or one pant leg rolled up
- Jewelry: earrings or necklaces with nicknames, stars, pitchforks or unexplained initials or symbols
- Wearing clothing always with a particular color or team identification
- New friends that the parents are not permitted to meet
- Phone threats received at home from rival gangs (or unknown callers)
- Physical signs of being in a fight, such as bruises and cuts
 - Negative continued contacts with the police
 - Photographs of your child and others displaying gang hand signs, weapons, cash, drugs or gang-type clothing.
- Firearms, ammunition or other weapons in the possession of or in the child's room

Isn't the way our children dress just a fad?

It may be. However gangs identify with the way someone is dressed. For example, the Latin Kings can be seen wearing black and gold. Crips wear blue. Bloods wear red. The Latin Kings sometimes only wear black and gold shoelaces. At times, the other gangs only carry a colored rag attached to a belt or hanging out of a pocket.

What are hand signs?

Hand signs are a way that members show their gang

ing across the U.S. instead of confining themselves to a single community as in the past. Every police department and most other agencies have someone who is involved in gang prevention or control.

Dear Mr. Honorable;

What a wonderful setting for a family Thanksgiving was Glenview Mansion last week! Our family and extended family was thrilled by the opportunity to celebrate this uniquely American holiday in such an elegant home.

Your staff which was present during our stay together was wonderfully supportive and the office phone answered politely folded any inquiries we forshad.

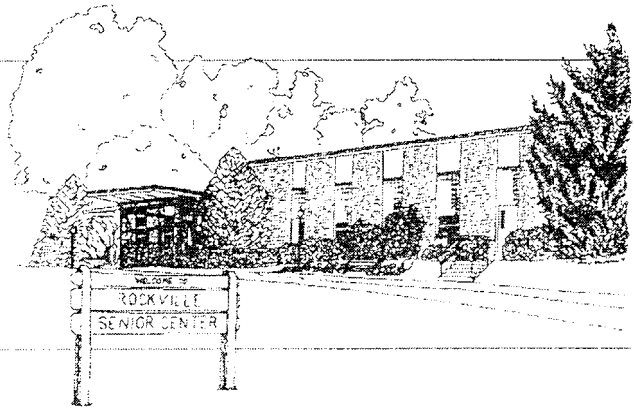

Of course, we were all spinning day-dreams about actually moving in such a mansion and we returned to our own home with a sense of having spent a few hours living in the manner (manner) in which we were meant to live!

We all had a great time and thank you for making such a magical place available to folks like us.

Yours Truly,

Dear Lorraine,

On behalf of the Rockville Seniors Inc. Board of Directors, I wish to commend Ms. Mary Fleisher on the outstanding job she did in running the two Flu Vaccine Clinics at the Rockville Senior Center this season. As last year, this was a particularly difficult year to obtain vaccine. Not only did she do a yeoman's job of getting the vaccine but also the clinics were efficiently and smoothly run.

One of our members pointed out that he tried to get the vaccine at five different locations and failed; three cancelled because the promised vaccine was not available and two ran out even before the scheduled time for dispensing (they only had about 40 shots available).

During the first clinic, Ms. Fleisher was sage enough to anticipate that the promised vaccine from Suburban Hospital would not be available and sure enough they did cancel at the very last minute. Fortunately, Ms. Fleisher had a fall back position and called a backup, the Inova Health System Foundation, to come and substitute. In the period between the first and second clinic, vaccine continued to be scarce, with several cancellations. Inova was quoted on television stating that they had cancelled all off-site clinics. Ms. Fleisher immediately called them, since they were to come and administer the second clinic, and got them to promise to honor their commitment.

The clinics themselves were conducted extremely well. Members did not have to stand in long lines as they were issued numbers upon arrival and had ample seating. Ms. Fleisher is a credit to the Senior Center and to City employees. From our perspective she did an outstanding job with these important clinics, as she does in her other duties in the Senior Center as well.

Dear Burt,

Over the last few years I have noticed the exceptional job that Nick Aquino does at The Senior Center. While it is a strenuous one, demanding and often hectic, Nick takes it all in stride. He is always polite and aware of the needs of staff and seniors.

It has been a pleasure to See Nick handle all kinds of assignments with such enthusiasm. I hope he stays for a long time.

Dear Mr. Hall:

I want to express my personal appreciation to you and to your department for the great support that you have once again provided to the F. Scott Fitzgerald Literary Conference. At this time, I still do not have total attendance figures, but according to my personal calculations, despite the inclement weather, we are ahead of last year.

Much of the success of the Conference every year is due primarily to Betty Wisda, of your department. She is my primary point of contact for City Hall, but she does so much more that it boggles the mind. Logistically, she is the one in assuring that I do not go out of my mind with the myriad of details which must be attended to keep this enterprise on course. I rely on her consistently and she comes through, each and every time. Thank you for loaning her to us again as in years past. Please convey to Betty my high regards and my thanks for all her efforts.

You can feel justly proud to have such a dedicated and caring individual on your staff. She does an outstanding job in representing you and the City of Rockville.

Thank you !

Best,

John Moser
